Abstract: This document has been created using Microsoft Word. Your abstract should be no longer than 150 words and only one paragraph in length. The language must be in high quality English. The main text is single-spaced 11-point Arial font. Tables and figures should be included inline with the main text. Each paper may be a minimum of 6 and maximum of 8 pages in length. Please do not include page numbers.

Keywords: Include up to six keywords that describe your paper for indexing purposes.

Introduction

The main text is to be written in the style "Workshop Body Text" in single-column format. The page width is 17.59cm. Each paragraph has a 6pt space at the end.

References should be cited in the text by number within square brackets and listed at the end of the paper [1] in the order in which they appear in the text. All references must be complete and accurate. Online citations should include date of access. References should be listed in the following style [2]:

Jin WG, Cheung YK, Zienkiewicz OC. Trefftz method for Kirchhoff plate bending problems. International Journal for Numerical Methods in Engineering 1991; 36 : 765-781.

Reismann H. Elastic Plates: Theory and Application. Wiley: New York, 1988; 1-10.

Bell M (1991) "Reconstructing communities as agents of progress", in Cotton A, Franceys R, Hutton L, et al. (ed.) WATSAN 2000: Proc. UNICEF Orientation/Training Workshop for Water and Sanitation Staff, 23–27 July 1990. WEDC: Loughborough University, UK, 1991; pp.19–32.

Wherever more than three authors or editors are listed, the remainder should be replaced with "et al."

Body of Paper

Main headings should be in 11-point Arial font in bold with no numbering. Tables should be formatted as per Table 1, with the table and table caption centred on the page.

Table 1. Three columns of data in this table. Each line of text has 3pt spacing above and below the line to improve readability.
